Dear Colleagues,

The end of the school year is now in sight—hooray! I'm sure you've got many great moments that stand out to you, your colleagues, and your students. There is no better time to reflect on our achievements—those that have made you really happy and brought a smile or even a cheeky chuckle when thinking about them in our classrooms and offices.

This year, I've managed to finish my book. It's a bit overdue, but it's done, and now with the publishers. I must confess it hasn't always been easy, but I did it, and the feedback from Routledge has been fantastic. So, when it's out in the autumn term, I hope you will enjoy it too.
